HAVENER ITEMS

Friends of Fred Davis will be glad to know that letters have been recently received by his near relatives saying that he is well and getting along fine. He expects to leave France for home quite soon. May sail on the "George Washington" with presidential party. At one time Fred's friends were quite anxious for his safety as he was captured by the Germans and in prison for some time.

Miss Bessie Eshleman and little sister were visiting their brother, Henry, on Tuesday of last week.

Ben Christian was called to Texas by the serious illness of his mother a few days ago.

A. B. Cain and family visited Frank Hurley and family last Sunday. Mr. Cain is employed a foreman in the shops at Clovis. He has recently purchased a new Oakland car.

Some of our young folks drove to Clovis Saturday night and took in the band concert and picture show.

A singing was held at the home of Mr. Mitchell Sunday night. A nice time was reported.

HE WAS IMMUNE

A man in one of the infantry regiments in No Man's Land was taking up as little room in a shell hole as possible during a hot fight, with everything singing overhead. At last a German shell landed right in the hole with him, but did not go off. As soon as he recovered from his fright and could think again, he took a look at the shell and found it was a dud (a shell with a defective fuse which does not explode). Next he noticed the number of the shell and something about it struck him as being peculiar. It was 1,217,413.

He reached inside his shirt and pulled out his identification tag. The number which stared him in the face was 1,217,413. He walked out of the shell hole and back to the lines with the bullets singing all about him but was not hit. He reported to his commanding officer with a salute and a smile.

"Captain," he said, "ask me to do anything now. They had one with my number on it, and it was a dud."

NO MATTER, NATURAL MISTAKE

Girl (to druggist)—Could you fix me up a dose of castor oil so as the oil won't taste?

Druggist—Certainly! Won't you have a glass of soda while waiting? (So she drinks the soda.)

Druggist—Something else, miss?

Girl—No, just the oil.

Druggist—But you have just drank it.

Girl—Oh! It was for my mother.

ONE MAN CAN FARM MORE LAND with the

MOLINE
UNIVERSAL TRACTOR
It Solves The Farm Help Problem

With the Moline-Universal—the original two-wheel tractor—One Man can farm more land than was ever before possible, because—

One Man has power at his command equal to six horses, capable of doing the work of nine horses, due to its greater speed and endurance.

One Man operates the Moline-Universal from the seat of the implement to which it is attached, where he must sit in order to do good work. One Man can start in the spring and go from one operation to another—plowing, harrowing, planting, cultivating, sowing, harvesting grain or corn, spreading manure, filling the silo, cutting wood, etc., doing all farm work from one year's end to another, independently of horses or hired help.

All these one-man operations are possible with the Moline-Universal because it is mounted on two wheels. It attaches direct to the implement, making one compact unit—the tractor, the front wheels and the implement the rear wheels. One man controls the entire outfit from the seat of the implement. There has been good reason in the past for putting a seat on implements, for it is from this point that the work must be observed and that adjustments must be made.

Being close coupled to the implement, the Moline-Universal Tractor backs as readily as it goes forward, and turns in a 16-foot circle. It steers so easily that a boy or woman can handle it as well as a man.

With the Moline-Universal one man can take care of all the requirements on the average size farm.

Plowing with two-bottoms, the Moline-Universal Tractor does as much work in one day as the ordinary three-plow tractor, due to the higher speed at which it operates, 3½ miles an hour. It has the power to run at this high speed because all of its weight is traction weight—all of it is converted to pull.

The light weight of the Moline-Universal Tractor, 3380 pounds, and its high clearance—greater than that of the average cultivator—make it perfectly adapted for cultivating. It isn't the kind of tractor that does your plowing and seed bed preparation and then rests while your horses do the planting, cultivating and harvesting.

Mechanically, the Moline-Universal is the most modern tractor built, containing more refinements and improvements than any other tractor on the market.
